“ My prayers go to Peggy and Steve and the rest of the family. My heart was very saddened to hear this news since I think of her very often almost daily. As a little girl she taught me three things that when I grew up would be my favorite pastimes. First two would be knitting and crocheting. People ask me how I learned to do that and I tell them my mom taught me when I was a little girl. I am now knitting and crocheting LITTLE RED HATS for babies who are born with heart problems. My other favorite thing to do is to play canasta with my friends. I now play this great game online, but I do miss the feel and the smell of the cards. I remember her sitting with her sisters and brothers playing canasta at the kitchen table laughing and having a great time when one day I said I want to play that game and she taught me. She and I would play on the weekends as we waited for Peggy and Steve to come home. Sometimes we would even play Yahtzee. I just taught my youngest granddaughter to play that game two weekends ago, we had fun. I told her that my step mom had taught me how to play that game. She of course asked me who she was, so I explained to her that she was grandpa Harold’s wife. Since my plans to see you when I come home next have now been thwarted I will see you when I get to heaven. With love and fond memories you will be missed

“ So sorry to hear of Marion’s passing. I knew her all through our years of grade school and high school. Many great memories with the Kirchoffers when they lived near Wenona School. May she rest in Peace now.
