“ 35 years MellyMel. 35 years of ups and downs. Of highs and lows. Boyfriends, marriages, divorces, children....deaths. My heart breaks to write this. I wish I could just text you “I wuff you” and get a response. So many memories of our life together and being the bestest of friends at times....and best of enemies at others. But when I needed you, you were there. I can never repay you for devoting all your time before and after Ace passed to be with me. I can look at the sky and know you are no longer in pain and that you are well and healthy again and you are flying with the angels. Hug my hunny for me! I hope you truly know how much I so deeply love you and our many years of friendship together! Fly high beautiful! “I wuff you always and forever” - Your Flubby
